45-Pound Coyote Trapped And Shot Near Warnertown

VETERAN LOCUST RIDGE hunter Harrison Slutter came up with an unusual catch with the trapping and shooting of a 45-pound coyote near Warnertown recently.

Slutter told The Daily Record he had tried unsuccessfully to get one last year. It is the first coyote known to have been trapped in this area although some have been shot. The busy woodsman has since added a fox and bobcat to his hunting laurels.

John Spencer, Mount Pocono game protector, identified the animal. He said it was a grey color. Spencer told of three shot during the past deer season. He said the animal is known for staying in dense woods and killing deer, rabbits and other game.

Leader Rules Out New Taxes For Biennium Ending May 31

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (AP)—Gov. George M. Leader repeated today his administration is virtually a "receiver in bankruptcy" but said no new taxes are possible this biennium to bail out the Commonwealth from a 90 million dollar deficit.

"I don't see how we can levy an additional tax this biennium," the governor told his weekly news conference.

Every possibility is being explored, he said, to find a way of raising the money and of putting off whatever expenses can be deferred to the 1955-57 biennium.

The deficiencies—expenses beyond those anticipated during the 1953 General Assembly session for the two years ending May 31, by Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen. The needed money is above and beyond the 400 to 500 million dollars which Leader says is required for the two years after June 1.

Asked if he stood by his inaugural statement that the new Democratic administration is a "receiver in bankruptcy" from the previous Republican regime, Leader replied:

"For practical purposes, we are. We are in a difficult financial position."

With no new taxes immediately possible the governor said the administration must start cutting back appropriations approved in 1953. He said there were two ways of doing this:

1. Hold up for bookkeeping purposes until after June 1 the actual payment of non-preferred appropriations. This type of grant includes aid to state-aided colleges and institutions.

2. Enact legislation postponing until June 1 actual payment of preferred appropriations. This type of appropriation includes money paid for actual state operations.

Leader listed upward of 22 million dollars in deficiencies which will have to be paid by May 31.

Federal School Construction Program Meets Opposition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower's school building program bumped into strong opposition today from the National Education Assn. and some other professional educators.

Some Republicans on the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee, now holding hearings on the measure, indicated they may favor drastic modification of the program keyed primarily to a form of federal guarantees of long-term credit to make it easier to float school bond issues.

There was a strong possibility that the Democratic-controlled committee might dump the Eisenhower administration bill in favor of a direct grants-in-aid program with a Democratic label. Committee Democrats were lining up solidly behind a one-billion-dollar, two-year program of direct federal

Farmers More Prosperous, Says Benson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Times are getting better for the farmers, Secretary of Agriculture Benson reported to Congress today.

Five signs, he told the House Agriculture Committee, point to an improvement in the country's agricultural economy. He listed them as:

1. Stabilizing farm prices and farm income after a period of adjustment from abnormal wartime demands.

2. An advancing level of per capita farm income.

3. A slight increase in agricultural assets last year.

4. Continuation of high domestic demand for food.

5. Increasing exports, including the distribution abroad of price-depressing surpluses.

Benson appealed to the legislators to give the Eisenhower administration's new farm program a chance to operate before passing judgment on it. "This is not the time to rock the boat," he said.

Nevertheless, Chairman Cooley (D-N.C.) has predicted the committee will approve new legislation to eliminate Benson's system of flexible price supports for basic farm commodities and restore the price level to 90 per cent of parity.

grants proposed by Sen. Hill (D-Ala.), committee chairman. Hearings on that measure, which has the general support of educators, have already been completed.

The administration bill, although based primarily on a plan of loan guarantees to aid school construction, would also appropriate 200 million dollars over three years as direct grants-in-aid for school districts unable to qualify for loans.

William Carr, Executive Secretary of the National Education Assn., pleaded in testimony before the committee today for "some genuine . . . instead of token" federal aid so that every school child can have a desk.

The nationwide classroom shortage today is estimated at more than 300,000, and the cost of modernization has been estimated at 12 billion dollars.

Three Resort Groups Pool Promotion Efforts

Leaders Hail Move As Big Step Forward

THREE OF this area's resort organizations banded together in an agreement to provide more productive promotional effort in behalf of the Pocono resort sector in a well attended meeting at the Penn Stroud Hotel last night. Henry Arneberg, president of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, presided.

Those groups combining in order to do a better job in the Poconos are the Vacation Bureau, Eastern Pocono Resort Association and Top of the Pocono Associations Inc. The Pocono Vacationland Association had previously voted to continue operating independently. Many members of the Vacationland group are also members of the Vacation Bureau.

The decision drew favorable comments from numerous members at the conclusion of the session which completed three months of negotiations and 23 roundtable meetings on the plan.

Bureau leader Arneberg stated: "I think it's the biggest step forward that the vacation industry has taken in the Poconos."

"The top of the Poconos feels this is a great step forward to consolidate our advertising money in such a way that it will better enable us to compete with other resort areas," was the comment of Paul Assure, representing John Crandall, president of the Top of the Pocono unit.

Charles Theodore, who recently returned from a European tour, spoke in favor of the plan for Eastern Pocono Association. The president told The Daily Record: "I feel the new machinery set up can work to the benefit of the overall promotion and also feel that each member of the Eastern Poconos will favor the plan after it is presented to them at our next meeting on Thursday."

A trio of members at large expressed satisfaction in the agreement. This group includes those members not in a particular association. These Bureau members are Mrs. E. Carlton, Charles Geisinger and Leroy Guccini. Their statement was: "We feel that the benefits we will receive under the new unification program will be greater than those received under previous association participation."

Francis Shinn, who has been active in forming the agreement since the early stages through meetings with Rep. Van D. Yetter and Secretary of Commerce John P. Robin, said: "In face of the intensive competition facing the greater Pocono region with its several independent area associations, this essential meeting of the minds towards unity is splendid. And the formation of a constitution of the Poconos with each area sending annually elected representatives to operate the Vacation Bureau marks great strides toward the goal of presenting a solid Pocono front to the public at large."

He added: "Coupled with Rep. Yetter's $900,000 plan now before the State Legislature for state promotion, we now can at least hope to compete more successfully with Canada, New York State, Florida and Atlantic City."

Each of the associations will meet with their respective groups in the near future in order to discuss ratification of the agreement drawn up at last night's session. Further discussion is planned among the members concerning the mailing of promotional booklets.

The new program becomes effective immediately and will remain in effect for one year. A Board of Governors will have charge of the operation. The number of governors will be based on one for about every 15 overnight accommodation units. Bureau members not represented in a recognized association will join in unit will be represented on the Board of Governors. Members of the Independent Vacationland Association may join the Vacation Bureau as individual members.

Nationalists Sink Seven Red Craft Off Matsu; Artillery Shells Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa, Friday, Feb. 18 (AP)—The Defense Ministry said Nationalist warcraft sank seven Communist landing craft in a sea battle early today between Nanchishan and Matsu islands northwest of Formosa.

The ministry said Nationalist warships shot up a Communist convoy.

Three Red gunboats were set on fire and "possibly sunk," the ministry added. It said the gunboats were between 200 and 300 tons each.

The landing craft were 300 to 400 tons, it added.

The battle still was in progress at noon—11 p. m., EST, Thursday—the ministry said.

Nationalist warplanes roared off Formosa bases to join in the battle.

With the Tachens abandoned to the Reds, the Nationalists now consider Nanchishan their northern anchor.

It lies 22 miles off the Red China coast, about 12 miles north of Formosa.

Matsu is a Nationalist-held island blocking Foochow port, northwest of the northern tip of Formosa.

The sea action followed on the heels of an artillery exchange to the south of the Quemoy area.

Chinese Red guns shelled Quemoy off the mainland port of Amoy today but fell silent when Nationalist artillery roared out in answer, the ministry said.

The ministry reported Red artillery poured in about 90 shells from Tateng, an island close to Quemoy, and from Lienho, on the mainland 10 miles northeast of Quemoy. It claimed the Red fire caused no damage.

Political quarters welcomed the statement by Secretary of State Dulles rejecting the idea of the Nationalists surrendering Quemoy, across Formosa Strait, and the Matus, 100 miles northwest of Formosa.

Vice President Chen Cheng told a news conference the Nationalists were determined to defend Quemoy and the Matus even if they were denied air support.

Asked about Dulles' statement that the United States does not intend to defend the offshore islands "as such" but to watch for any Red attempt to use them for a Formosa invasion, Chen replied:

"If I were an American, I would help put the Nationalists in position to defend the islands by themselves and not get the 7th Fleet involved."

Chen replied "no" when asked if U. S. aid was coming fast enough, adding: "It is quite obvious and Chinese Communists are getting more and faster aid from Russia."

House Debates Trade Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—The House waged a nip-and-tuck opening battle over President Eisenhower's lower tariff foreign trade program today and administration backers wound up the day with a one-vote preliminary victory.

Protective tariff forces showed such surprising strength that they may be able to impose restrictions on the President's program when the final voting takes place tomorrow.

Eisenhower was reported to have made a last-minute move to bolster his support. Informed sources said he had written Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts that he would not use requested tariff-cutting powers to injure American industries.

This letter, apparently to be made public by Martin in floor debate tomorrow, is counted on by administration forces to swing some doubtful votes in line.

Today's skirmishing dealt only with the rules under which the House would consider the legislation.

Within 2½ hours, the members voted 193-192 to take up the administration bill under procedure limiting opponents to just one amendment.

Saar Agreement Squeezes Through Preliminary Test

BONN, Germany, Feb. 17 (AP)—The important Foreign Affairs Committee of the West German Bundestag reluctantly approved the French-German Saar agreement tonight, 16 votes to 13.

Two of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's coalition parties, the Free Democrats and Refugees, deserted him to vote with the Socialist opposition.

The narrow margin for the unpopular Saar agreement was in contrast to the committee's previous 20-9 votes for the other Paris treaties to give West Germany sovereignty, allow her to rearm and make her a member of NATO.

The treaties come before the Bundestag for final approval next week.

Fatal Fire Laid To Indifference Of TV Viewers

MONTREAL, Feb. 17 (AP)—Reluctance to leave television and personal comforts to investigate the source of smoke was blamed in part today for a costly apartment house fire in which 11 persons died. Fourteen other persons were injured.

Starting last night in an incinerator shaft, the fire swept through the two top floors of the four-story Salaberry Apartments in the heart of Montreal.

"The fire might have been avoided," Fire Director Raymond Pare said. "If residents of the 82-apartment building had forgotten their television programs and personal comforts and investigated the pungent smoke odor which obviously seeped through the apartment block a quarter of an hour before the fire broke out."

Nine-Year-Old Girl Slain; Youth Held

DETROIT, Feb. 17 (AP)—The battered body of a 9-year-old schoolgirl was found tonight behind her home near a skating pond in a wooded section of suburban Farmington Township in Oakland County.

The child, Kathleen McLaughlin, had been stabbed repeatedly in the chest and her skull had been crushed.

State police picked up for questioning a 16-year-old neighbor boy with whom Kathleen was last seen. Troopers said bloodstained clothing was found under the boy's bed in his home.

State police identified the boy as Floyd Diamond of Farmington Township. They said he admitted orally stabbing and striking the child during an argument.

Six Firemen Die In Fire At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Feb. 17 (AP)—All city departments were ordered today to help the Fire Department and its arson squad investigate a nine-alarm blaze which swept a downtown clothing store last night and killed six firemen.

State Atty. Anselm Sodaro ordered the owner, Herman E. Goldstein, brought in for questioning. Police also interrogated Louis Phillips, a salesman they said helped Goldstein and two of Goldstein's sons close up the place about 8:35 p. m. and the fire broke out only minutes later.

Another downtown store operated by the firm was burned out by a six-alarm fire last June 19. Investigators said they learned it had closed about 8:45 p. m. and the fire was discovered at 9:02.

No damage estimate was made immediately on last night's fire, nor was its exact cause determined.

Mayor Thomas d'Alesandro called for a "thorough investigation" at an emergency meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners.

The loss of six men was the greatest tragedy in the history of the Fire Department. In the great Baltimore fire of 1904, which devastated downtown blocks by the score, not a man was lost.

London Disturbed By U. S. Hint To Defend Islands

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' foreign policy speech was viewed critically in Britain today—as a spark endangering the Formosan powder keg.

Britons were dismayed at Dulles' hint the Americans might decide to defend Quemoy and Matsu Islands to shield Formosa. Officials left no doubt they would continue to insist that the Nationalist Chinese turn over the offshore islands, within easy striking distance from the mainland, to the Chinese Communists.

Dulles said in New York last night the United States is not committed to defend "as such" the "coastal positions" held by Nationalist Chinese, which include Quemoy and Matsu. But he declared the Americans will defend Formosa and the Pescadores against any Communist Chinese invasion and thus will "be alert" to actions elsewhere by the Communists aimed at conquering these strategic islands.

Britain has urged Matsu and Quemoy be turned over to the Peking regime to achieve an unbroken "cease-fire" in Formosa Strait. The British interpreted Dulles' speech as rejecting this proposal.

The foreign office was stonily silent regarding the speech. But British officials, privately and newspapers openly were critical.

The British officials were especially disturbed by Dulles' statement that the suggested surrender of the offshore islands by the Chinese Nationalists to the Communists would "not serve" either the cause of peace or the cause of freedom.

The British officials emphasized this country will keep pressing for abandonment by the Chinese Nationalists of the offshore islands, even if this policy means an open breach with the United States.

Prime Minister Churchill indicated today in the House of Commons the gravity with which Britons view the Formosa crisis. Asked whether he would invite President Eisenhower to London or go to Washington himself to confer on such international problems as Formosa, Churchill said he would like to confer with the President if the occasion arises.

"I would gladly go again if the occasion was opportune, but I must be the judge of that."

Dulles and Eden will have a chance to discuss differences in their views when they attend the Manila Pact conference in Bangkok, Thailand, Feb. 23.

British Plan Production Of Horror Bomb

LONDON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Britain announced today she has solved the secret of the hydrogen bomb and is proceeding immediately to become the third nation producing H-bombs.

Prime Minister Churchill's government disclosed Britain has the H-bomb know-how along with the United States and presumably Russia. The disclosure came in an almost casual reference buried in a white paper on defense.

Britain also reported that less money would be appropriated for defense and armed forces manpower would be reduced.

"A small nation such as ours," Defense Minister Harold Macmillan, in explaining the white paper, told a news conference, "We have now developed the power to produce a thermonuclear weapon and we will now proceed."

"We have solved the research and we are now moving into the development stage. Production will follow."

"A small nation such as ours can hurt a very large nation far more in a thermonuclear war than we could in an atomic war. Twenty atomic bomb explosions would be most inconvenient in Britain and would hurt us greatly. At the same time 20 or even 100 atom bombs might not knock out a big nation."

"However, if a small nation such as Britain could deliver just one or two thermonuclear bombs against a big aggressor we would narrow the gap."

Neither Macmillan nor the white paper said when Britain's first H-bomb would be completed. The white paper said there also is no way of telling when the Russians will have thermonuclear weapons available for operational use.

The United States exploded an H-bomb in the Pacific last March and Russia claims her nuclear weapons can match America's.

The defense minister did not elaborate on how much help—if any—Britain can get in finding the secret of the H-bomb.

He said, however, that "the United States has always been helpful in matters not covered by the McMahon Act" which controls the amount of information the U. S. government can give foreign countries on atomic research.

The main task of the Royal Air Force "now is to build up the V-bomber force, with its nuclear potential, to the highest possible state of efficiency and preparedness," the white paper said.

"The first squadrons of V-bombers will be introduced during this year."

The V-bombers are the Valiant, the Victor and the Vulcan. The Valiant will go into RAF squadron service soon.

The first implication of the nuclear weapon "is not one of despair but of hope," the white paper said.

"In the hands of the free world, which at present has a marked superiority both in the weapon itself and in the means of delivering it, and which has no thought of aggression, it is a most powerful deterrent. In the government's considered view, this deterrent has significantly reduced the risk of war on a major scale."

SNYDERS MILL, located just east of the Route 12-209 intersection at Sciota, was erected in 1800 near site of the George Phillips residence, where Jacob Albright, itinerant preacher, organized a class and conducted meetings.

Rev. Cecil Pottieger's New Book Describes Jacob Albright's Early Preaching At Sciota

Rev. Cecil P. E. Pottieger, author of "Jacob Albright Beyond the Blue Mountains," served the Evangelical United Brethren Church in the West End & Monroe County for five years. He is now pastor of Grace Church, Telford, Pa. The story of the book, below, shows that the burden of the interesting story deals with the first of Jacob Albright among the German speaking people in Monroe County.

By Rev. Cecil P. E. Pottieger

THE TOWN of Sciota does not appear on most maps of Pennsylvania. Its only claim for presence on most standard road maps is due to the fact that the important highway arteries to the Pocono Mountains converge in its center.

Anyone passing through this typically peaceful northeastern Pennsylvania town and traveling north along either U. S. Route 209 or Penna. State Route 12 (about eight miles west of Stroudsburg, "The Pocono Mountain Capital") will hardly notice the quaint old mill on the southeast side of the road past the intersection. "Snyder's Mill" as it is called in the area, was erected in 1800, as the cornerstone high up on the wall attests.

This building was standing during the period when Jacob Albright, founder of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, traveled to Monroe County (then Northampton) on his numerous visits. For it is behind this quaint building that it is presumed there resided one George Phillips, early pioneer and a "godfather" of the Evangelical Church, known in those days as a class of the "Albrecht's Leute" (Albright's people).

Those who are acquainted with the "classes" of Jacob Albright will remember that there were three such small hands organized in the eastern section of the Keystone State in the early Nineteenth Century. The classes were Leislers' Class near Barto, Pa.; Walters' Class near Quakertown, Pa. and George Phillips Class. This latter class, until the issuance of the "History of the Evangelical Church" in 1946 by Dr. R. W. Albright, was referred to rather vaguely as the class located on "the north side of the Blue Mountains" in Northampton County.

What was never made clear in the histories is the fact that Northampton County was divided in the year 1836 and from it was formed Monroe County, among others, Monroe County, which borders the Delaware River on its easternmost side, is historically a Protestant area. The Roman Catholics did not migrate there until the latter part of the Nineteenth Century with the construction of the Delaware and Lackawanna Railroads.

By nationality, these Protestants were Hollanders, of the Dutch Reformed Church and French Huguenots, who were forced to leave France by the Edict of Nantes.

In addition to these early settlers, were the German founders who were largely from Alsace and the Rhenish Palatinate, who too were largely Lutheran and Reformed. Into this area settled Mr. George Phillips, migrant from the Bucks County area in Southeastern Pennsylvania, in the early 1790's.

Mr. Phillips who with his wife, Mary and two sons Conrad and Jacob, purchased a large tract of land from Mr. Dielman Bauer, an innkeeper, in the Sciota area. Apart from the aforementioned "Snyder's Mill" the only other old building which is known in this part of Monroe County, is the old "Swartzwood" home, just east of the mill on a dirt road leading to Bossardsville.

About a mile beyond the Swartzwood Home there is located a Union Church of the Lutheran and Reformed denominations. Union Churches of this type are quite common in this section of Pennsylvania.

The present church, which still stands, was built in 1829 and was predated by a log building which was built in 1775. But here, as in Lebanon County and elsewhere, Albright found that these colonial people were "blind to salvation" and had veered afar from the original concepts of Martin Luther.

John Calvin, Menno Simons as they interpreted the words of the Great Teacher. For this reason, Jacob Albright came into this northern county on one of his many tours of preaching.

The relation of Peter Walters, in Bucks County (where Albright conducted one of the original three classes) to George Phillips is not clear at this time. Perhaps it shall never be known! But old deeds and records indicate that Phillips and his family moved to Monroe County (Northampton until 1836) in the middle of the year 1798 from Rockhill Township, Bucks County. This is the same county and presumably the same township in which the Walters family lived.

It is historical speculation but common sense to connect the Walters family with the Phillips family as they both lived in Bucks County, possibly as neighbors. It would be inconceivable that, as Evangelicals from the same county, they should be unacquainted. It is also a foregone conclusion that Phillips took Evangelicalism to Monroe County and was, by invitation, followed by the founder, Jacob Albright.

In those days, Sciota, was a "day's journey" from the Walters home. Today, with modern methods of transportation, such a trip of about 50 miles could be made easily in "an hour's time."

The death knell was sounded for the "Evangelicals" with the moving from Monroe County of the Phillips family only 13 years later in 1811. For in that year, father George Phillips and son Conrad and their families moved to Winfield, Union County, Pa. where they lived an equally helpful life to the new denomination on a farm which was adjacent to one owned by father Abraham Eyer. The son, Jacob, who was licensed to preach by the Evangelicals in the George Becker home near Kleinfeltersville, Pa. in 1806, had

And so, in the "Blue Mountain" Church, where Jacob Albright brought "glad tidings to sinful men"; where a promising future was apparent to the new, young movement; here the Kingdom was temporarily halted by several peculiar quirks of fate. But what was a loss to the Monroe County effort, was a gain to the Winfield (Dry Valley) Union County, Pa. work.

Once he had arrived there, father George Phillips was actively engaged in the work of the Evangelical Church.

Stock Prices Irregular At Finish

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—The stock market wobbled to an uncertain close today with prices inclined to be higher.

There were few outstanding developments. Prices ranged from around 3 points higher to 2 points lower.

Aircrafts were lower along with rubbers and utilities. The airlines were higher in a late show of strength, and also up were steels, copper, radio-televisions, and oils.

Other major divisions were mixed or steady.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 10 cents at $150.20. It was off 60 cents yesterday after establishing a new all-time high Tuesday.

Today the industrial and railroad components of the average remained unchanged while utilities sagged 10 cents.

More than offsetting than weakness, however, was the fact that 533 stocks advanced while only 424 declined out of the 1,222 issues

Captains Named For Heart Fund's Door-To-Door Canvass

Solicitation Scheduled Monday Night

MORE THAN 350 captains and volunteer workers will conduct the Heart Fund's door-to-door canvass Monday night.

Between the hours of 6:30 and 7:30 the workers will visit Monroe county residences in an effort to bring in $3,000—the approximate goal of the 1955 drive.

Mrs. Samuel O. Wells, chairman of the Heart Fund, last night issued an urgent appeal to all homeowners in the area to "welcome your Heart Fund Volunteer and help promote the activities of the Monroe County Heart Committee."

Mrs. Wells said the organization for the Monday night drive has been virtually completed. Although a few county areas still have no captains, the list of workers includes names for 25 regions of the county.

Headquarters for collection and counting of Heart Fund donations will be Hintze Dry Cleaners, S. Seventh St. in Stroudsburg Monday night.

Names of captains in the various areas, as announced by Mrs. Wells, were as follows: N. Fifth St., Mrs. Walter Werkheiser and Mrs. Walter Weber; Arlington Heights, Mrs. Walter Fellenner; Chipmunk Drive, Mrs. Harold Miller; Marshalls Creek, Mrs. Harvey Huffman; Bushkill area, Mrs. John Shinn and Mrs. Boyd Weiss Jr.

Shawnee, Mrs. Willard Stetler; Minisink Hills, Mrs. Eugene Emmerich; Franklin Hill, Mrs. Horace Moore and Mrs. Lewis Volkert; Delaware Water Gap, Mrs. Fred Shoemaker; Mount Pocono, Mrs. Paul McBride; Bartonsville, Mrs. James Canfield Jr.; Tannersville, Mrs. Vincent Marek; Meisertown, Mrs. Elmer C. Munch; Scotrun, Mrs. Jorgen Ask; Paradise, Mrs. David Nieson and Mrs. Mabel Carstens.

Reeders, Nita Warner; Anolomink, Pinebrook and Wooddale, Mrs. John Schimmel; Paradise Trail, Mrs. Dale Learn and Mrs. Dalton Plattenberg; Pocono Summit-Fern Ridge region, Mrs. Franklin Smith; Kresgeville, Mrs. Harold Schaefer; West End area, Mrs. Harry Weiss and Mrs. Grant Knowles.

Lackawanna Trail, Mrs. George Ockershausen; Stroudsburg, Mrs. E. I. Fansler and Mrs. Dettlef Hansen, chairman with six captains, Mrs. Grant Nitrauer, Mrs. Donald Gilpin, Mrs. Howard Flagler Jr., Mrs. Robert Miller, Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, Mrs. T. Manning Curtis.

East Stroudsburg, Mrs. Richard Altemose and Mrs. William Hannan, chairman with six captains, Mrs. Kenneth Eshback, Mrs. Allen Sterner, Mrs. Harold Cleaver, Mrs. John Shiley, Mrs. Harry Nae and Mrs. George Marsh.

Resort Groups Join Efforts

The Vacation Bureau will handle the soliciting of funds and/or memberships of purveyors as well as all advertising and promotion work. The other associations may operate booths within their respective areas. Any booths outside the boundaries of an association will be operated by the bureau.

In the agreement, all members will belong to the organization in which they are geographically located and automatically be included in the Vacation Bureau.

Executive Secretary Harold Swenson announced the new estimated budget as $30,000. This would include $24,000 from membership and $6,000 from purveyors. The figure denotes an increase of 25 per cent over the former budget of $22,000 carried on by the Vacation Bureau.

This increased budget would make it possible to increase the advertising budget by more than 50 per cent. The Vacation Bureau expects to handle a minimum of 35,000 mail inquiries as compared to the former average of 15,000.

Swenson announced the new dues rate as higher per head count but lower per unit for OAB groups. The head count dues rate is set at $3, while the minimum unit fee would $45.

Operators of more than one overnight accommodations unit must maintain full membership for each simultaneously in order to be eligible for participation, according to the agreement. These OAB units include resorts, hotels, inns, lodges, motels, cabins, cottages, rooming houses etc.

The program calls for the recognized area associations to make all collections from these OAB operators within their respective

Big Turnout Expected At Annual Dance

ONE OF THE largest attendance in years is expected at the eighth annual fireman's dance sponsored by the Stroudsburg Fire Department at the Penn-Stroud Hotel tonight.

Committee directing the affair said public response has been good, but urged all those who received tickets to make returns as promptly as possible so a final accounting can be made for a report to the department.

Dancing will start at 9 p. m. to music of Clem Weidmeyer's orchestra which for many years has won acclaim from guests at Vacation Valley. A variety floor show will be presented.

Cpl. Mullins Assigned To Famed Unit

CPL. HARRY A. MULLINS has received notice of his transfer to the nation's top Marine Corps drum and bugle organization.

Cpl. Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mullins, 514 Brown St., arrived home this week on leave. He was notified of the transfer before his leave began.

He will be stationed with the Headquarters Marine Drum and Bugle Corps in Washington, D. C. The Headquarters organization is designed primarily for purposes of publicity and the encouragement of Marine Corps enlistments.

During each year the corps makes a series of public relations tours from coast to coast, playing in all major cities. It is made up of the finest musicians available in the regular Marine ranks.

Cpl. Mullins is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School, where he was active in school band programs throughout his school career. He was employed as a dance band musician during Summer months and played with top area bands following graduation.

His address in Washington will be Cpl. Harry Mullins, Marine Barracks, Eighth and I Sts., Southeast, Washington, D. C.

boundaries, promote memberships in their association and maintain active representation on the Board of Governors.

Tentative plans were announced for the "Hotel Show" scheduled for April 20-21 at the Penn Stroud. This show would include a kickoff luncheon, liquor dealers dinner, dance and "Restaurant Day."

Others attending the meeting last night were Mrs. V. Young, R. Leroy Dengler, Robert Franklin, Ted Berger, Jack Shinn, Edward Strickland, Irene Werry, William Altier, Edward Schneider.

County Man Charged With Burglarizing Summer Home

AN EAST STROUDSBURG RD2 junkman yesterday was accused of burglarizing a summer residence near Dingmans Ferry.

He was Elmer Wildrick, 33, arrested as he was attempting to buy some old automobiles at Gregory's Garage, Milford, Wednesday afternoon.

Milford troopers said he was taken in custody after two area residents identified him as the man they saw—accompanied by another man—running from the summer home. The "other man" was not found.

Police said they were not yet willing to disclose the names of the witnesses.

Wildrick was arraigned yesterday before Justice of Peace Willard Durr in Milford. He was represented by Milford attorney Carl Wagner.

Wildrick, through his attorney, pleaded innocent to the charge. Justice Durr ordered him committed to Pike jail in Milford pending grand jury consideration.

The peace justice said several articles had been taken from the home and placed outside it—five extinguishers among them. But before anything was removed from the property, the two burglars were frightened off by the approach of neighboring residents, the justice said.

SHS Senior Accompanist For Chorus

RUTH FETTERMAN, Stroudsburg High School senior, was chosen to act as an accompanist for the annual district chorus in Wilkes-Barre yesterday.

Miss Fetterman won the honor in competitive tryouts with other leading pianists from schools in the Northeastern Pennsylvania District. She has served as accompanist for Stroudsburg High School choral groups during most of her high school career.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd E. Fetterman, 1149 W. Main St., Stroudsburg. Vocal tryouts for the chorus were scheduled for last night and this morning.

Nuna Snyder, vocal music instructor at the local school, is attending the district meeting with six of the students from the high school who were honored by selection to the Northeastern chorus.

Club Steps Into Rabbit Controversy

SMITHFIELD Wildlife Gun Club went on record last night against hunting San Juan rabbits at any other time than during open season in the Fall.

Furthermore, the club said, any member of its organization caught shooting a San Juan rabbit (or any other breed) during any month except the open season will be punished.

The Smithfield club is one of the largest San Juan stockers hereabouts, according to John Doebbing, district game protector.

The group's action was taken in reply to a State decision to allow hunting of the San Juan rabbit on a year-round basis. Complaints had previously been registered against the San Juan type, which, many hunters allege, stays holed up all day and comes out at night.

Any person found hunting the San Juan rabbit on Smithfield Gun Club lands—all of them clearly posted—will be subject to arrest and fines, according to Paul Metzgar, president of the club.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (AP)—The State Game Commission yesterday advised Pennsylvania hunters to forego hunting rabbit species unprotected by state law because they may confuse them with the protected cottontail rabbit.

Dr. Logan J. Bennett, commission director, said responsibility for identifying the rabbit targets rests squarely with the hunter.

"If they shoot a cottontail, they are in trouble," Bennett said. The San Juan rabbits, which some private clubs have stocked, are unprotected in Pennsylvania.

Tuesday First Legal Date To Circulate Nominating Petitions For Primaries

MONROE COUNTY'S political arena still looks pretty bare. Four Democrats have squared off for the three commissioner jobs. Two more will fight it out for nomination as register and recorder.

To date no Republican has nudged his helmet into the ring. The shyness is likely to end next week, when it comes time to circulate nominating petitions.

The petitions are available now, at the commissioner's office in the courthouse.

Next Tuesday is the first day they may be circulated.

Ordinarily they could also be filed on that day. But Tuesday, Feb. 22, the courthouse will be closed in honor of another politician's birthday (not Republican or Democrat, but Federalist).

As a result, Wednesday will be the first day for petitions to be filed in the commissioners' office.

Last day for filing petitions will be March 14.

Last day for registering for the May 17 primaries will be March 26. That is also the last day to change parties. No further changes of party may be made from then until

That Congressional Pay Rise

"As a people we must realize that the present executive salary scale imposes a marked disadvantage on the government in its attempts to attract and hold competent men in public service."

This quotation is included in an elaborate study and series of recommendations on improving government personnel and Civil Service, made this week by the Hoover Commission to the Congress.

We'd like to paraphrase the Hoover Commission quotation:

"We must realize that the present congressional salary scale imposes a marked disadvantage on the people in their attempt to attract as candidates the greatest possible number of qualified men and women for the highest legislative body in our land—the Congress."

More pay for Congress is no new issue. It has been raised for a number of years, but nothing ever has happened—mostly because the congressmen themselves, fearing political repercussion, have ducked the controversy.

Wednesday members of the House of Representatives voted a $10,000 pay increase by a vote of 283 to 118. Opponents insisted that congressmen go on record "so their constituents could see where they stood."

The cold facts were on the side of a pay raise, but as in the case with so many other pieces of legislation, that doesn't ever assure passage of a bill. In fact, this measure must still run the gauntlet of the Senate.

Opponents of the bill Wednesday demonstrated the big question on every congressman's mind: "What will this do to me politically?"

But let's take a look at the present salary schedule:

The present salary of $15 grand sounds like a lot of money to the average American. But the average American must not forget that a congressman's life—and expenses—are far from average. Right off the bat, he is faced with maintaining two homes. Every two years, he is faced with the snowballing costs of district campaigning. Hardly a day goes by but that he is picking up a luncheon check for some visiting constituent or getting clipped by every donation appeal that comes along. He's hardly in a position to say "no."

A Presidential fact-finding commission studied the pay issue at length. It found that it costs the average congressman $3,000 more to live every year than his $15,000 salary, and it found that more than 80 per cent of the congressmen must depend on a private source of income to make both ends meet.

We believe it is and has been the personal conviction of members of the House and Senate that a salary increase should be voted.

There are many times when it takes courage to stand up for personal convictions. There were 283 members of the House who faced this issue with sufficient courage to vote openly and properly.

We would suggest that members of the Senate meet the issue with similar fortitude and vote accordingly.

Our Weakening Reserve

No more telling criticism could be leveled at our military program than that of Gen. Alfred Gruenther, who said it was "one of the weakest in the entire North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Americans have been inclined to look on most of our European allies as indifferent to their defense preparations and aloof to the peril they face. But if we have let our own all-import reserve system slide toward a state of uselessness we will be setting a terrible example, for all our preachments.

General Gruenther added his voice to those of two other overseas commanders, Gens. John E. Hull and Maxwell Taylor, in support of President Eisenhower's proposal to build a five-million-man U. S. reserve.

General Hull in particular emphasized two features of the Eisenhower plan which we believe should be the bedrock of any program Congress may enact. One is the equal responsibility of all American youth for the defense of the country, and the other is provision that World War II and Korean War combat veterans shall not be called for further service except in complete mobilization.

Other provisions are highly controversial—which is all the more reason Congress should get down to work on this vital legislation.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Hoover Group Would Take Civil Service Out Of Politics; Name Managers Group

The personnel of our government consists of 2,345,000 employees of all kinds from day laborers to policy-makers making officials whose tenure is determined by the fate of the nation. Probably the first scientific study that has ever been made of the whole subject has just come out in the report of Herbert Hoover's Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government. The annual payroll for all government civil employees is approximately $9,000,000,000.

The United States Government has suffered from the spoils system in two senses, namely, that the political party in office regarded the employment of civil servants as a method of strengthening their party; the other fault is that some Administrations have blanketed unproved employees, taken on for political reasons, into the Civil Service.

The problems that face the Government are not only to establish an efficient Civil Service, but to preserve the policy-making function of officials as a political responsibility of those chosen by the Government and to achieve efficiency by giving government employment, even for short periods of special tasks, to the most competent men and women in the country without the constant impediment of stultifying seniority rules. In war-time, for instance, the Government recruits the most able men in the nation for special tasks.

From 1933 to 1952, Congress has passed a number of laws granting politically appointed persons Civil Service status non-competitively, that is without examination. The number so protected only amounts to about 250,000 persons, although the figures are kept so badly that it is believed that this is a low calculation.

The problem facing the Hoover Commission was to define the difference between policy-making and non-policy-making officials. There is a difference, for instance, between a stenographer and an official whose judgment may lead to economic disaster or even to war.

The Government is particularly weak in managerial personnel. The report says:

"... It is not well understood how much manpower is actually needed to do this job effectively. The existing number of non-career executives is spread too thin in terms of the tasks which they should perform."

"Our Task Force has noted the high and increasing rate of turnover of top non-career executives, especially in the assistant and under-secretarial positions."

"The administrative functions of the Government have grown so enormously that it is no longer possible to entrust managerial responsibility to the 'chief clerk' type of mind. In March, 1953, an attempt was made to improve the delineation by the establishment of a definite class of political employees beneath the level of assistant secretary and exempt from the competitive Civil Service rules. At that time, political and confidential employees were removed from Schedule 'A' and placed in a new Schedule 'C'. The Commission concludes that while the concept of separating political and confidential jobs from other exempted jobs is basically sound, Schedule 'C' has not yet achieved its desired objective..."

The Hoover Commission has therefore recommended that in the non-career category be placed:

"All positions having vested in them statutory authority or executive delegations of authority requiring the incumbents to make final decisions in the establishment of governing policies, programs, objectives and in the enunciation of principles which will control the action of subordinates in the implementation of the foregoing."

"All positions, the duties of which require the incumbents to act publicly in advocating new policies and in justifying or defending the governing policies or the basic principles or philosophy which controls their department or agency policies. Such duties would include direct participation with, or representation of non-career executives in public debate, evaluative discussions, and justifications of departmental policies, programs or activities."

In a word, the Civil Service is taken out of politics and political debate. The managerial group selected by the President to function directly under his authority and working to carry out his policies, for which he is responsible, for which he is responsible, for which he is responsible.

Congressman Chet Holifield of California objects to this proposal on the ground that:

"... If recent experience is an indication, the addition of another schedule would invite even more juggling and wider opportunity to dilute the career service with political appointees."

His concept is fallacious because it is the President who is responsible under the Constitution. If he is to manage the Executive Branch of Government, he ought to be given an adequate staff to work with.

Inventors Can Be "Made" Under Training Program

Hardly anything would come handier in this business than the know-how to cut in a free flow of creative imagination at will. Say at about 1 o'clock of a morning when the wheels of the mouse show all the symptoms of being set in cement.

So naturally I was interested right off in an article in the current Nation's Business titled "Here's How to Train Your Own Inventors."

"Until recently we have generally assumed that creativity was born in individuals," says the piece. "Today we know that quality can be not merely stimulated but actually taught. One man, Alex H. Osborn, and one company, General Electric, already have demonstrated this."

It seems that GE has what it calls the Creative Engineering Program, the main purpose of which is to encourage bright young men in its employ to throw off their inhibitions, loosen up their imagination and ride their lances.

The thing sounds a bit squirrely at first blush but after you read more of the details it sounds downright crazy.

Yet it works. Some 335 men have taken the course and over a 10-year period they averaged 2% new ideas apiece that were good enough to patent.

What principles there are behind the training technique have been pulled together by this man Osborn, a one-time advertising expert. The thing to do if you want to cook up some fresh ideas, he says, is:

- 1.—Set a definite time.
- 2.—Suspend critical judgment and don't discard ideas just because they seem impractical.
- 3.—Get your aim clearly in mind.
- 4.—Analyze each problem; ask why, when, what.
- 5.—With the facts at hand, let the brain run wild.

I have been trying these instructions for the last hour or so and about the closest thing to a bright idea they suggested was to take a look at the patent office report and see what some of the others in the field are doing.

Well, some interesting things are going on. For example, one fellow has invented just the thing for anybody who suspects that somebody is prowling his desk drawer.

You bore a hole in the top of the desk and install this device that has a six-digit combination that shows through the hole. If anybody moves the drawer the order of the digits is changed and you can see at once that there is dirty work afoot.

Now, the boys at GE wouldn't have to kick that one around more than a semester or two before it would come to them that you could accomplish the same thing by sealing the front of the drawer with a piece of cellulose tape. This idea doubtless would be disqualified as unpatentable, of course—but imagination running riot like that would put the finger on that drawer sooner or later, never fear.

The livestock industry of the United States suffers a loss of more than $500,000 annually through the death of cattle that have accidentally swallowed nails, wire and similar kinds of hardware.

If the cleavage of a large rough diamond is not done with the grain, the stone will be greatly decreased in value. It may require a year to determine the cleavage.

Use of agricultural airplanes for aerial pest control, weed control and fertilization adds an estimated three billion dollars to U. S. farm income each year.

There are almost seven pounds of calcium in a 150-pound man—99 per cent of it in his teeth and bones.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Three Explosive Events Affect Far East Region

Washington, February 18 — Three portentous developments in the Far East bear close watching.

Each occurred separately, but they have two highly significant factors in common: All of these unannounced events are directly related, and they fore-shadow new crisis in this foreboding cockpit, as follows:

Red China's navy has just concluded its largest and most extensive maneuvers in the Shanghai area, several hundred miles north of Formosa.

A number of U. S. warships that participated in the Tachen evacuation have been sent to Northern Vietnam to transport more than 200,000 refugees before May 1, when the Communist Vietnamese come into full control under the Geneva agreement.

Rear Admiral William Davis, Jr., pioneer Navy pilot and foremost atomic weapons expert, has assumed command of a carrier division that is the main striking force in the Pacific. This powerful combat unit is armed with A-bomb casings but not the triggers.

Pentagon authorities say privately that it is a toss-up which is the most explosive—the impending mass evacuation of Vietnamese refugees, or an attempt by the Chinese navy to go through the Formosa Straits for assaults on the Nationalists' Matsui and Quemoy Islands. Reasons for this apprehension are:

The Vietnamese evacuation centers chiefly at Hainan, major port of the cooled region. When the Navy previously moved an estimated 200,000 refugees, little interference was encountered from the Reds. The latter are now evincing ominous indications of trying to forcibly prevent another large-scale "sea-lift," although the Geneva pact gives the people full freedom of choice to leave if they want to.

Any attempt by the Communists to stop them by violence will be instantly resisted by the American warships and planes now concentrating in this area.

Similarly, the Chinese navy may find itself in trouble by seeking to attack Matsui and Quemoy. To reach these embattled Nationalist outposts, the Communists must traverse Formosa Straits. This critical sea lane is now patrolled by the East China Sea Task Force. It was set up, and its carriers and other fighting ships are so deployed as to bar the Red vessels from the Quemoy-Matsui Islands.

The Communists cannot penetrate this "blockade" without shooting.

Notes: Admiral Davis was one of the first Navy pilots to fly to Hawaii. Also as a young officer he was a member of an aerial stunt team, known as the "Three Sea Hawks," that thrilled throngs throughout the country 25 years ago. Prior to being sent to the Far East, Davis was Navy commander at the Armed Forces Special Weapons Project at Albuquerque, N. M. . . . No correspondents from any foreign country are permitted to cover the operations of the Seventh Fleet. . . . Red China's navy now comprises one light cruiser, originally given by the British to the Nationalists and taken from them by the Communists, 4 destroyers, 5 submarines and anumber of new-model torpedo boats, all of Russian origin. Also numerous gunboats and armed junks, chiefly of Chinese make.

Talking Again — Harry Truman will shortly break the long silence his doctors imposed on him after his serious operation last year.

The former President has agreed to make two speeches. One will be in Philadelphia; the other in Washington, at a dinner in honor of Speaker Sam Rayburn. This event will be in lieu of the usual Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet, but the price will be the same—$100 per plate. With this difference. The money, an estimated $100,000, will go to the Senate and House Democratic Campaign Committees instead of to the Democratic National Committee, as in the past.

As reported in this column last week, Speaker Rayburn told new National Chairman Paul Butler that part of Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner profits should be turned over to the two congressional committees for next year's tough election battle. The banquet in honor of Rayburn is a compromise on this demand.

A possible surprise participant may be former Vice President Jack Garner.

The 86-year-old Texan is being strongly urged to come to Washington, which he hasn't visited since retiring in 1940. Leading this effort is former Senate Secretary Leslie Biddle, a close friend of three of the four living ex-Vice Presidents—Garner, Truman and Alben Barkley. The latter will be present and have personally asked Garner to come. No invitation has yet been sent to Henry Wallace, who succeeded Garner, was replaced by Truman in 1944, and in 1948, lost the Democratic ticket and ran against him for President on a left-wing ticket.

Experts Offer New Rules

—by H. G. Heller

There's a great deal of truth in the comment: "Everybody that drives a car is a traffic expert." But there are experts in three continuous study groups who won't admit their experts in the study of traffic, traffic laws and regulations.

Made up of men and women of vast experience and skills, they seek to provide uniform traffic control through laws and devices. They are a recommending body, and they don't recommend—despite their expert status—until they study each phase of traffic at least five years. I make sure they're reasonably right.

These three agencies—American Association of Highway Officials, Institute of Traffic Engineers, and National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws—are now suggesting these revisions in traffic control devices:

A red stop sign, with extra white lettering and with at least the lettering reflectorized, replaces the former standard yellow sign. No contrasting panels or supplementary messages are permitted.

A "yield right of way" sign is adapted for use at certain intersections where a full stop is not required. This is a yellow equilateral triangle, with one point downward.

"No passing" and "end no passing zone" signs are replaced by signs reading "do not pass" and "pass with care," respectively.

The cardinal direction marker is to read "North," "South," etc., rather than "Northbound," etc.

The minimum mounting height to the bottom of signs in rural areas is increased to five feet. Warning signs are to be placed further in advance of dangers ahead.

The border around a sign is now optional rather than mandatory.

Railroad-crossing pavement markings are confined to the right-hand portion of the pavement.

Traffic signal installations must show at least two signal faces visible to traffic on each approach to an intersection.

The minimum traffic "warrants" vehicular volume—justifying traffic signal installations are raised in certain respects.

If you drive a motor vehicle—and feel like an expert—here's your chance to do a double check on other experts.

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

Broadway Ballad
A brown-out dims the garish Street tonight.

The Broadway Moon is hidden by a cloud,
And now I see them in a different light—
The lonely ones—who wander in the crowd.

They search for love that's like a golden sun
To light the dimmed-out pathways of their lives.
They drift along The Main Stem—one by one.
And linger here and there among the dives.

I never gave a thought to them before—
When I was striding proudly by your side.
So sure that you'd be mine forevermore.
That Love would never take me for a ride.

But with one Heartless Laugh—you made me see Another sardine in the Broadway sea.

Rev. Pottier Writes Book

Rev. Pottier, his home became a prominent preaching place to traveling preachers. It will be remembered that his neighbor and friend on the adjoining farm, father Abraham Eyer, owned a barn in which was held the ninth annual conference in 1816. The barn still stands in Winfield and is appropriately marked by the Pennsylvania State Historical Society. The old church at New Berlin, Pa. located about six miles to the west of the Eyer barn, was built about this time. One of the trustees was Conrad Phillips, one of the sons of George Phillips. Conrad's untimely death occurred in 1816, and his father passed on to his Eternal Reward in 1822.

Today, the work in Monroe County continues. It is sad to observe that in a section where Al-bright organized one of "the three classes", there are today only about 200 members in four churches. There are some evidence of hope in each one of the existing churches, viz. St. Peter's Church, Saylorsburg; Timothy Church, Kunkletown R.D.; Keokee Chapel, Cresco R.D.; and Pocono Union, Henryville R.D.

Nonetheless, along with the optimism that is possessed by energetic pastors in these churches and enthusiastic memberships, one may look with pride to the past. Only the Almighty can enumerate the good that was accomplished by folks who migrated from this county to transplant the "Evangelical Movement" in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, North and South Dakota and other western states.

It remains for God's judgment what the presence of the Phillips family meant to the young, struggling movement in Dry Valley (Winfield), Union County. We will never know the helpful and courageous impression made by the members of the Phillips Class upon the young itinerate preacher Jacob Albright, whose early preaching was done near Sciota in the foothills of the Pocono Mountains.

Home Life Insurance Co.
Names Coco Top Salesman

SAMUEL J. Coco, 405 Clermont Ave., Stroudsburg, has been named by Home Life Insurance Co. as its leading salesman for 1954. Mr. Coco was the company's leading agent for 54 in all three production branches.

His industrial increase and his competitors in these branches by comfortable margins. This was done despite the fact he did not become a full time agent until May 24 last year.

Mr. Coco has represented the concern in the Stroudsburg-Tannersville area since 1951. His wife is formerly of Manchester, England. He met her while serving in the Air Force during World War II. They have one child.

He is a member of American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is serving as chairman of the board of directors of Italian American Club here.

More than 200 electrical appliance dealers and distributors from Stroudsburg, Nazareth, Bangor and Easton have been invited to attend a meeting at Forks Township Fire Co. hall, Easton, Monday when Metropolitan Edison Co. will reveal details of its new 1955 sales program.

Dealers will be given full details of how MECO plans to aid them in selling more electrical appliances and equipment for homes, farms and commercial establishments.

These plans, John O. Hunsicker, division residential and farm sales director said were developed only after extensive research and an analysis of the buying habits of local housewives. Information gained in this market survey will be made available to dealers co-operating in the 1955 program. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner.

William C. Mitchell and Son are now operating what was formerly Stackey's Meat Market, on Route 611 at Arlington Heights, as Mitchell's Economy Market.

The new ownership is handling a complete line of choice meats, groceries and produce.

This market will have its formal opening today.

Paul W. Morton, formerly a teacher in East Stroudsburg Junior High, has left the teaching profession to enter the business field as operator of a drapery specialty shop.

Pyle Chosen
Delegate To Park Institute

DISTRICT FORESTER E. C.

Pyle has been named with three others from Pennsylvania to attend State Park Training Institute conducted by Department of Recreation of Indiana University.

Pyle leaves Saturday from Harrisburg with Pennsylvania Chief of Recreation W. P. Moll; John W. Genter, superintendent of Shawnee State Park and E. S. Radcliffe, superintendent of Raccoon Creek State Park to attend the institute at Pokagon State Park, Angola, Ind. the week of Feb. 21 to 25 inclusive.

Prominent state park directors, instructors and lecturers of mid-west and east universities will be on the program. Subjects will include supervision and administration, proper development and maintenance of all types of park and facilities. The week-long institute will include "workshop" meetings for actual practice in training.

Pokagon State Park is located in extreme northern Indiana and is the state's most popular winter sports center.

Pyle is the only district forester from Pennsylvania delegated to represent Pennsylvania. He is in the Delaware District and has four state parks under his jurisdiction besides the 80,000 acres of state forests and the Dilldown Watershed Experimental Forest. Two new parks being developed are Tobyhanna State Park and Big Pocono State Park which will be open for the first time for general public use this summer. The two other parks under Pyle's supervision are George W. Childs Park and Promised Land Park, both in Pike County.

Soviet Press
Chides Own
TV Industry

MOSCOW, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Soviet Union's television industry gets almost a spanking a day in the press.

Only two plants manufacture television sets. Tens of thousands of people are on the waiting lists to buy receivers.

But many sets, even the latest, by public admission are so poor that often they can't receive a clear picture 25 miles from the station.

Soviet Trade, the official newspaper of the Ministry of Trade, has announced the factory directorship is being shaken up or reprimanded. The newspaper Literary Gazette complains that the telecasting and programming are, if anything, worse than the receiving sets.

Moscow television—the Soviet Union's best—is on the air about 28 hours weekly. Most of this is canned stuff—old films, or taped theater and ballet. The live stuff is mostly sports.

Russians haven't the faintest idea of how broadly developed television is in the United States, Britain and other West European countries. But they must think there is something better than what they are getting when they line up on winter nights to see such old captured Western movies as "Waterloo Bridge" and "Carnegie" with Greta Garbo.

AFL, CIO To Speed Merger
Schedule Despite Protests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17 (AP)—Objections from some union leaders are having little or no effect on AFL and CIO chiefs in their resolve to merge into a single national labor organization.

In fact, the merger timetable may be stepped up.

Whereas AFL and CIO leaders talked last week of completing the deal by the end of the year, they now are considering a mid-September target date.

The AFL's regular convention is scheduled for Chicago Sept. 15, the CIO's for Buffalo, N.Y., on Oct. 17. The CIO is reported considering moving its meeting to Chicago to coincide with the AFL sessions, so both could separately ratify the merger and convene a joint convention to make it final.

Decisions on both the merger and the possibility of moving the CIO convention to Chicago are to be made at the CIO Executive Board meeting here next Thursday.

CIO President Walter Reuther was ready with a statement when the CIO's 65,000-member Transport Workers Union voted yesterday at a convention in New York against going along with the merger.

The TWU convention acted after the union's president, Mike Quill, accused Reuther of a sell-out in agreeing to the merger and said it was a surrender of CIO principles. Quill called for greater safeguards against union "raiding," racial discrimination and racketeering in any merger arrangement.

"May the Lord forgive brother Quill," Reuther replied, "for he knows not what he doeth."

Similarly, a squeal was quickly forthcoming for John V. Riffe, the executive vice-president of the CIO and one of its three principal officers. Riffe told the TWU convention he could not go along with the merger and was "not at all sure" the amalgamation would be accomplished.

Riffe, an international representative of the CIO Steelworkers Union before he took over the top-level CIO post, was answered by the steelworkers president, David J. McDonald who disavowed any sympathy for Riffe's views.

Speaker Calls For Firm U. S. Policy In Asia

ALTHOUGH the United States stock is low in the Asiatic market, it can go up if our government takes a firm Asiatic policy, Dr. Wilson L. Godshall of Lehigh University's department of public relations told Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday.

Dr. Godshall was introduced by Clifford Heller, program chairman.

The speaker gave his audience a resume of two years' stay in the Far East. He spent some time in the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo; taught in University of Manila and visited India, Formosa and Malaya.

According to Dr. Godshall, the respect of Asiatics for the United States is steadily declining. Among the reasons he cited are:

We lost the war in Korea. We became involved in Indo-China. We do not seem to know when we are insulted by Red China. Many of our aircraft have been shot down, and we are doing nothing about it. Black market activities by Americans, both military and civilian, do not give America a good name.

The situation, however, has improved somewhat in the last two weeks, Dr. Godshall said.

We have our fleet in position to act, if necessary, but we must mean what we say and stand fast, he warned. Moreover, he held, in helping Asiatics by giving them goods, we must exact something in return, if we are to maintain their respect.

Dr. Godshall maintained the United States needs friends in the Far East. They can be "show windows" that reflect our ideas and ideals. He said the people of Thailand are among our friends.

PP&L To Cut Commercial Rates Feb. 28

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. of Allentown will lower rates of 2,649 industrial and commercial consumers $275,523 a year beginning Feb. 28.

The Public Utility Commission has authorized the utility to drop its fuel adjustment clause to make the decreases possible. The clause is a formula used by PP&L to vary rates for large quantity customers in lines with coal and power generation costs.

The changes do not affect residential rates.

"Obviously it would not be to the interest of the public or to the consumers served by this utility to suspend a tariff providing for decreases in rates," the PUC informed PP&L and 11 plants protesting the change.

The 11, located in Berks and Lancaster counties, contended the decrease, in effect, is too small.

The rate revision will result in rate increases of $1,393 a year for 217 other industrial and commercial users.

U. S., Britain Press Differing Aims On Handling Far East Situation

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press News Analyst

The American decision not to urge the Chinese Nationalists to evacuate any more islands has upset Britain.

From her own standpoint, Britain has gone a good way in supporting Washington's firm attitude about the defense of Formosa. She recognizes the Peiping regime as the government of China, and re-members, despite Churchill's statement that it is outdated, the Cairo agreement that the island's belong to China.

If it were not for Hong Kong, for which the Chinese, both Nationalist and Red, have long been presenting claims, it is doubtful if London would have gone even as far as she has.

When the latest crisis developed, firmly defended it against strong opposition in the House of Commons. At the same time, however, they approached Russia for help in persuading Peiping to rely on political rather than military action, and devised the idea that Nationalist-held islands immediately offshore should be surrendered for the sake of establishing a blue water moat between the contenders.

Now the United States, through Secretary Dulles' speech in New York Wednesday, has turned that down. In addition, Dulles expressed no hope for the Anglo-Russian negotiations, although the British still maintain hope themselves.

Britain is still working for an agreed cease-fire. Dulles expressed respect for United Nations negotiations, but America's real expectations obviously are based on belief in a stalemate enforced by the 7th Fleet.

One difference in the position of the two allies on the offshore islands is produced by the fact that Britain does not have to worry about relations with the Nationalists, whom she does not recognize politically, while the United States does.

The United States, in trying to enforce a stalemate between Chiang Kai-shek and the Reds, is giving up one important deterrent to aggression elsewhere in Asia. That is the threat of Nationalist forces to the China coast if Communist defenses there are weakened by military concentrations elsewhere.

If the Nationalist will to resist should be seriously damaged by a drop in morale due to further surrenders following Tachen, then the United States would have to devote a great deal more strength to the defense of Formosa than she now counts upon.

If it were not for this, the British argument for surrender of the other islands would be more logical. These islands do, indeed, represent a risk of further involvement. The United States feels the risk is not sufficient to outweigh the political practicalities, at this moment, anyway.

British officials clearly understand these considerations, even if they do not agree with how the United States adds them up. It is the British press and public and the parliamentary opposition, which needs to consider them.

The death rate in France has been reduced from 154 per year for each 10,000 people in 1938 to 129 in 1953.

Bids Requested On Pike Project

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today called for bids March 8 on another two mile section of the northeastern extension.

The project, including structures, grading, drainage and paving, is located in Jenkins and Pittston Twp. of Luzerne County. It will bring to 85 miles the length of the 110-mile extension under construction, contract or pending contract award.

The collapsible metal tube such as is now used for toothpaste was invented in 1841.

NO CUTUPS IN CLASS

Mass fencing drills like this teach the men to sharpen physical and mental prowess.

Student practices lunging at Prof. Bartha for a "touche."

NO STUDENT ever falls asleep in any of Prof. Rodolfo Bartha's classes at Escuela Militar, the "West Point of Venezuela." It would be dangerous to do so, since he runs the academy fencing school. All freshmen must take fencing while upper classmen may elect it. Classes are two hours each and held twice a week. At the end of the course, each student must pass his exams. The men are paired off, using electric foils to register the "touches" during combat. The foils set off a light on a scoring box when the tip of the foil comes in contact with an opponent. The professor keeps score and grades them on this as well as on form. Honor students may join the school's fencing club and participate in tournaments. Even though a future officer may never pick up a foil again, it teaches him poise, alertness, balance. Students at Escuela Militar get a rigorous schooling comparable to that at West Point.

After final exams comes graduation. Students are in formation for the ceremonies.

Eisenhower the unique "hook-up" whereby alumni at 42 different dinners, 24 of them within the State, will participate in the celebration. There'll be some 600 guests at the campus dinner. Penn State alumni of the Pocono Mountains area will hold their anniversary dinner at the Penn Stroud Hotel and take part in the "hook-up".

Part Of So-Called Religious Revival Might Be Phony, Some Dubious Churchmen Contend

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—Religious scholars are taking a second—and sometimes dubious—look at America's so-called "religious revival."

Part of it, they say, may be phony.

"The tenuous religion to which we have returned often looks suspiciously like a gimmick for getting what we want," says Dr. Robert McAfee Brown of Union Theological Seminary.

Despite swelling church rolls, high attendance and new religious fanfare ranging from sign-board slogans to "In-God-We-Trust" postage stamps, the question is if all this reflects hard, humble dedication.

Dr. Roy Eckardt, professor of religion at Lehigh University, says the "lamentable thing about the current revival" is the growing tendency of people to expect God to serve them—rather than the other way around.

Particularly disturbing to some churchmen is a fashion in religion which makes its appeal mostly on the basis that it will give you personal gratification and power.

"Some of the popular preachers frankly commend religion as a way to worldly success in every kind of pursuit," said noted theologian Reinhold Niebuhr. "There is nothing in this of biblical faith."

"It is involved in self-worship rather than the worship of God."

"It is easy to corrupt the Christian gospel until the judgment which must precede mercy is eliminated from the gospel message and complacency rather than repentance becomes the fruit of religiosity."

Postwar years marked the start of the steep upturn in religion—jammed mass evangelism meetings, new lay movements, a rash in industry and on campuses, a rash of best-seller religious books, TV programs and movies.

"Religion seems to have become the vogue in America," said Dr. Ralph Sockman, a leading Methodist minister. But he added he is doubtful if the quality is as substantial as the quantity.

"All the advertising is fine in bringing to people's attention the necessity of religion," said Father John A. Goodwine, of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Seminary.

"But the danger is for those who do not understand that religion means a union of the spirit with God, an essential love of God and willingness to live according to His commandments, to do his wishes in order to save our souls."

"Whether it makes us feel any better is purely accidental."

Most widely heard criticism is that religion, in some cases, is being watered down into easy, comforting sentiments, best expressed in popular songs of glib generalities—without demanding selfless commitment.

"God is for many men today a sort of glorified bellhop to be summoned by the buzz of prayer," said Rabbi Elliot Grafman, of Temple Israel, Long Beach, Calif.

"Even the pulpits have unwittingly encouraged this attitude."

Many churchmen are reemphasizing that Christianity does not mean peace without struggle, or life without crosses to bear, that Christ's theme was not relax, have confidence—it was "repent."

Dr. Eckhardt, in Christian Century magazine, criticizes the rise of what he terms "cults"—a self-centered "cult of peace of mind" and a "more tangibly sinister" cult of "we versus they" in which God is pictured as always fighting for American special interests.

Another, he said, is "the cult of the man upstairs. God is a friendly neighbor who dwells in the apartment just above. He does not get upset over your little faults. We have been assured by no less a theologian than Jane Russell that the Lord is a 'livin' doll', a right 'nice guy'."

Eastern Star Memorial Is Held In Lodge

The February stated meeting of Monroe Chapter, No. 99, Order of Eastern Star, was held in the Masonic building, East Stroudsburg, with Bessie L. Morman, worthy matron, and Harry E. Neumann, worthy patron, presiding.

The annual memorial service in honor of members who had died during the past year was held, also a special memorial dedicated to Freda Gariss, one of last year's officers who had died August 14.

The ceremony consisted of singing "Beyond The Sunset," by Mrs. Ruth Anglemeyer and Mrs. Mae Lee and a reading by the worthy matron.

Balloting and initiation of new members followed.

Further plans were made concerning the penny supper to be held at the East Stroudsburg Methodist church on March 25.

The birthday lady, Mrs. Mary Dunkelberger, greeted all those having birthdays during February and presented them with gifts.

Among those remembered was the worthy matron who was presented with a special gift by Mrs. Verna LaBar, a remembrance from her officers.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served in the dining room by the members from South Stroudsburg with Mrs. Betty Tretheway chairing. At that time a candle lighted birthday cake was presented to the worthy matron.

Mrs. R. Dunlap Is Honored At Quilting Party

Pocahontas Lake — Mrs. Ralph Dunlap was the guest of honor at a surprise covered dish dinner party given by the quilters at her home Wednesday of last week for her 42nd birthday.

Mrs. Dunlap was presented with a birthday cake with all the trimmings which was served with ice cream. She also received gifts and many cards.

In attendance were: Mrs. Cleveland Keenhold, Mrs. Jennie Kilmer, Mrs. Philip Dunlap, Mrs. Willus Dunlap, Mrs. Emanuel Berger, Mrs. Mae Miller, Mrs. Adam Smith and Mrs. Clarence Bonser.

Mamba Club's Guest Of Hesters

The Mrs. Samba Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Allison Hester, Chipperfield Drive, when in addition to the game, refreshments were served in the Valentine motif. Plans were made for the next meeting.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. Ruth Heller, Mrs. May Hall, Mrs. Betty Smith, Mrs. Ethel Dickson, Mrs. Esta Clifton, and the hostess.

King And Queen Of Hearts Crowned At Youth Center

Harold Burkett, of Brodsville, and Pat Haney, of Sciota, were crowned King and Queen of Hearts at the Valentine dance held last Saturday night for the benefit of the March of Dimes polio fund. The sum of $11.25 was received for the fund.

The dance was sponsored by the West End Youth Center, Brodheadsville. There was a good-sized crowd in attendance despite the unfavorable weather conditions.

The King and Queen were chosen by popular vote. The King and Queen were escorted to the throne in a procession led by the runnersup, Samuel Budge and Sandy Sniffin, of Saylorburg.

They were crowned by Carl Budge, secretary of the center, and Nancy Reinhart, the president. The Queen was presented with a corsage of red roses and the King with a red necktie.

The King and Queen led in a series of Sweetheart dances in which the group assembled took part. The music was furnished by Harry Fehr and his orchestra, of Bangor.

The next dance will be held the regular night the first Wednesday in the month, which will be March 2 at Saylorburg fire hall. This will mark the beginning of the second year of Youth Center activities and will be known as a membership drive dance. Particulars will be announced.

Demonstration By Boy Scouts Paradise PTA

Swiftwater — Boy Scout Troop 95, of Swiftwater, under direction of Scoutmaster Carl Hamblin, gave a demonstration at the meeting of the Parent Teacher Association of Paradise Township at the school in Swiftwater, Monday night.

Eight of the scouts were present and their display was a duplicate of that given at the Cavalcade of Scouting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel garage last Saturday, camping.

An overnight tent with sleeping bags and air mattress was set up on the stage; a camp fire scene with an improvised water heater, a hand washing device, models of different tent set-ups.

There was a display of the patrol flags and the Troop flag which the Mount Pocono Rotary Club presented to them last year, as well as various charts of their progress were shown.

A scale model of their ideas of a camp was set up in a sand table, a hammock and crafts and knots which they have made, all were viewed by an interested audience.

Founders Day was observed by a brief talk and reading by Alfred Freeland, teacher of fifth and sixth grades, and program chairman.

Announcement was made by David Nelson that the cancer dressing workshop will not be functioning immediately, due to the fact that there is no urgent need at this time and supplies are not available.

Miss Mildred Anderson's first and second graders will be featured in a program at the March meeting of the PTA and, in addition, a white elephant sale will be held. The attendance prize went to the fifth and sixth grade room.

Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee and cocoa were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Kenneth Banzhof, Mrs. John Hamblin and Mrs. David Nelson.

Youngsters Give Party For Mothers

Kunkletown — The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Kunkletown Fire Company held a Valentine social at the American Hotel in connection with the regular meeting Monday night, Feb. 14. There were 26 members in attendance.

Mrs. Weldon Everett, vice president, was in charge of the meeting when committees were named to plan the card party to be held Saturday, March 5 at Greenzweig's Hall.

Committee members are: Refreshments, Mrs. Ernest Pearsal, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Ruby Frantz; cards, Mrs. Alvin Christman, Mrs. Howard Meekes and Mrs. Daniel Johnson.

Announcement was made that many prizes were needed for the party and instead of naming a special committee to look after this feature, each member is made personally responsible for the donations. The ladies plan to work on quilts at Pearsal Hall which will be disposed of later.

A Stanley party is scheduled for the March 14 meeting.

After the business was dispensed with, refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Berger and Mrs. Floyd Berger. Ronnie Frantz passed out the exchange of Valentine gifts.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Heap big talk around heap big store this morning about the opera "Hopita" presented at Carnegie Hall Wednesday evening and viewed by about twenty-five of our Wyckoff-Sears department heads, office personnel and others. One of the outings planned by our heap big boss, Mr. E. H. Wyckoff, as his way of saying thanks to those who have been doing a good job . . .

Among the things about the opera that most impressed some of the crowd were the live rattlesnakes on stage. Haven't inquired, but I'm wondering if they were trained to take the part of castanets at the proper moments? . . .

Mae Coffman is enthusiastic about a new Exclusive Form garter belt with a hidden feature: a sanitary belt that is cleverly concealed and completely out of the way which not in use. This is truly a dainty, pretty item of apparel. It is fashioned of nylon lace and ribbon as sheer as a cobweb, and there are two styles. The best double feature we can imagine, this sells at $2.50 . . .

Dollar Day items are very tempting, so maybe I'd better stay right up here in my private cell. As it is, I'm unable these days to even pass the Sportswear department with my new-found ability to wear blouses and skirts. After years of being too plump for sweaters and such, this is a nice change of pace—and I'd forgotten how reasonably priced sports attire is. Lovely linen-type skirts that can be dunked in the wash-tub, cost under $5; and some of our cutest blouses are $2.98. Add these together and you have mix-and-match versatility, and smart attire for less than $9. Who could ask for more? . . .

On the rack is one beautiful orchid skirt that draws me like a magnet. And some of those orchid blouses! Oh me, oh my. When it comes to answering "who could ask for more?" I'm certainly one who can. . . Maidenform's answer to the new Dior line is a bra called "Pro-Logic" designed to give a more rounded look and lift the bust ever so much higher. The cups are topped with a criss-cross band of French imported pre-shrunk cotton lace, and the cotton fabric of the main bra is floral embroidered. This is also priced at $2.50, and is a lovely thing . . . "Papa Loves Mumbo" and MOM-love the waltz. Or at least, she loves waltz-length nighties, judging from the number we sell each year. Cora Albertson asks me to call attention to the new spring styles in soft-as-silk batiste pique at $3.98. . . Here's another note from our corset department: Fab-lined girdles and party girdles by Playtex are on sale, with the $5.95 garment reduced to $3.99 and the $4.95 garment reduced to $3.49. The Fab could stand for fabric. It could also stand for Fabulous. Try a Playtex this spring, and see if you don't feel and look your most comfortable best.

Stroudsburg High Athletic Problems Aired

STROUDSBURG HIGH School's athletic program, both present and future, was discussed at last night's meeting of the Varsity "S" Club at the Stroudsburg Municipal Building.

Earl F. Groner, superintendent of Stroudsburg Schools, and Alfred W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High, spoke to the group on the various problems connected with sports at the W. Main St. court. Both are charter members of the Varsity "S" Club.

Groner traced the history of athletics at Stroudsburg High and the manner in which the present Athletic Association was formed. The association consists of the superintendent of schools, a high school principal and assistant principal, entire coaching staff and three members of the school board. This is the organization that actually runs sports at the local school.

The superintendent went on to announce officially that Stroudsburg would have a junior high school football team next season, one that will draw its players from seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Some ninth graders, strong enough mentally and physically, will be permitted to play on the varsity squad.

Varsity squad membership will be divided into two teams—the regular varsity and the "B" squad. The "B" team is being constructed for the varsity player who plays only one or two periods a season, so that he may gain valuable experience. Both the junior high and "B" teams will play four games next season. The season will last eight weeks.

Groner also touched on the great expenses involved with running an athletic program.

Munson spoke on the work being done by the Athletic Association and the great progress being made in sports, against many obstacles.

The principal pointed out the responsibilities he must shoulder under Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association law.

Both school officials stressed the importance of athletics in the present scholastic structure.

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager at Stroudsburg High, reported that last season's football budget was $9,200. T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, athletic director, spoke briefly, and Ray Welsh, scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, outlined an athletic program used by him at Bridgeton, N. J. High School.

Welsh also gave the club a few ideas to stimulate attendance at various athletic events, which were apparently well received by the 30 men in attendance.

Sam Everett, Varsity "S" president, ruled over last night's business session, which featured a decision by the club to present a play at Stroudsburg some time in April to raise funds for the annual spring athletic banquet.

Everett named a committee of Tom Somers, Jack Mullins, Warren "Mag" Loney, Floyd "Blink" Holloway, Curtis, Cliff Fansen, Serfass, Bernie Helman and Munson to "push" the presentation.

It was also decided to hold a Varsity "S" reunion at the Stroudsburg-Lehighton basketball game next Tuesday. The reunion is open to all varsity letter winners at Stroudsburg High.

Junior High Cage Machines Clash At Stroudsburg Today

EAST STROUDSBURG AND Stroudsburg Junior High Schools clash for the second time this season today when the respective squads battle on the Stroudsburg High court. The contest is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Both teams will put winning streaks on the line and East Stroudsburg will be attempting to make it two straight over the Mountaineers.

The Cavaliers won the initial meeting of the two quintets, 35-20, on the East Stroudsburg hardwood.

East Stroudsburg will be searching for its sixth straight victory of the current campaign after dropping the opening contest. Stroudsburg now has a mark of six victories and three setbacks and the Mountaineers will be shooting for their fifth consecutive favorable decision.

Coach John Whitehead, Stroudsburg, and Coach Mike Evans, East Stroudsburg, are expected to stick with the same lineup that has carried all of the weight to date this season.

Gray's Chevrolet Rallies To Gain Verdict Over West End

TANNERSVILLE—Gray's Chevrolet rallied in the last period here on the Pocono High School court last night to serve a 73-68 verdict over West End in a Pocono Mountains League basketball outing.

The contest was played as the first half of a doubleheader.

West End, featuring new blood, battled the strong Gray's quintet on even terms for the first three periods but fell off the pace in the fading moments of the contest.

Gray's club went in front at the end of the first period, 19-12, and held a 38-26 advantage at the half-way mark.

West End rallied strongly with a 22-12 scoring blip in the third quarter, but the Chevrolet contingent took all doubt out of the contest in the late portion of the final round. Gray's contingent dominated the final period, 73-68.

The winning club was actually outscored from the field by West End, 31-28, but Gray's sharpshooters converted 17 of 30 foul shots to win. West End found the range on six of a dozen free throws.

Gray's win evened its record at one-and-one in the second half, while West End has dropped both of its second half starts.

Al Bartholomew and Dick Pennington paced the winning attack with 20 and 19 points respectively. Henry "Hank" Kreechel and Bill "Bump" Metzgar were tops for West End with 24 and 18 counters.

Stroudsburg High To Invade Emmaus Mountaineers Attempt To Halt Slide

Mountaineers Attempt To Halt Slide

STROUDSBURG HIGH School will attempt to end its latest basketball losing streak, which has reached three straight, when the Mountaineers do battle with the Emmaus, in the latter's gymnasium, in the next to last Lehigh Valley League outing of the season tonight.

Junior varsity warfare is set for 6:45 p.m. and varsity activity is on the agenda for 8:15 p.m.

Stroudsburg opened the second half of the Lehigh Valley League in championship fashion by downing Catasauqua and Whitehall in that order. But since that time the Mountaineers have been the victims of Slatington, Northampton and championship bound Palmerston.

In a first half clash with Emmaus Stroudsburg scored a 70-56 victory on the W. Main St. court. Coach John Kupiec is undecided about a starting lineup, due to the poor showing of the Mountaineers in the last three. He will probably reserve his starting choice until just before game time.

Dave Nevil, Wallie Adelman and Doug Shook will probably divide the forward duties, while Adelman will also probably split the center duties with Dick Little, Tom Metzgar, Francis "Sonny" Dieber, Bob Metzgar, Don Dohler and Dick Hintze will undoubtedly see action in the guard division.

Emmaus has lost all four of its second half games to date. Stroudsburg's current record, against all opposition, consists of nine wins and the same number of setbacks.

The Mountaineers finish their portion of the Lehigh Valley League season against Lehighton next Tuesday, on the Stroudsburg High hardwood.

Stroudsburg completes its entire campaign against East Stroudsburg, also on the W. Main St. court, on Tuesday, March 1.

Other Lehigh Valley League battles on the agenda tonight feature Northampton against Whitehall, Catasauqua at Slatington and Palmerston in battle with Lehighton, at Lehighton.

RILEY

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

JERRY PALAIA has returned basketball to good standing once again at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Palaia, who first grabbed coaching headlines at Jenkintown High School, has brought the court sport back to the level enjoyed when very popular Ray Welsh directed the Normal Hill Hoopsters. There's been a famine of three or four years, but ESSTC students and area residents are eating and drinking once again—and that's what counts.

The return to good standing hasn't been an overnight accomplishment. Rather, it has been a hard uphill grind that reached the peak on Tuesday night in the 88-81 victory over a highly regarded Panzer club. Things looked anything but promising in December when the Warriors, under their new coach, went down to three straight defeats. A victory over Trenton helped and so did a close decision over Cheyney. But Millersville arrived on the scene again and Panzer slapped the local boys.

But since that time on its been clear sailing with four successive verdicts coming over Kutztown, Paterson, Montclair and Panzer. The win over Panzer, in the second meeting of the two teams was the clincher. Regardless of what happens in the remainder of the season, the situation is well in hand. Palaia has welded the many different personalities which have been exposed in the past into a well oiled machine, one that will be extremely tough the remainder of the season.

Palaia's work with Charley German is only one of the great jobs the youthful mentor has turned in. German is just about the best we've seen on the Normal Hill court since the days of Henry "Hank" Pords, as far as shooting and rebounding is concerned. The truly remarkable thing about German is that he's not a big man, at least not by basketball standards. He may reach six feet, one inch, or even stretch to six-two, but each game he's assigned the big man and not once has he been outplayed.

The former Whitehall High eager hit his season's peak on Wednesday when the freshman sharpshooter tallied 38 points, four short of the school record, and grabbed off 22 rebounds. The hard working center doesn't care whether he's recovering defensive or offensive rebounds, just so he's got the ball and its moving in the right direction.

Ray Kaseman is recovered from his early season slump and once again is driving the opposition crazy with his absolutely brilliant ball handling and his dangerous shooting ability. Kaseman, rounding out a fine college career, more often than not fools everyone in the gymnasium, including the officials, with his magic like touch with a basketball.

George Heidenreich is now at his peak. The lanky guard is shooting better than ever before and he's hawking rival dribblers like a detective. Wilmont Smith isn't scoring as high as last season, but he's a much better basketball player than at this time last year. His back court work is solid and he's keeping the team on its feet with his quiet, workman-like manner of operating.

Denny Sullivan, like German, a freshman, is big and willing. He has a lot to learn, but the former Dunmore High eager is improving with each game and is a tough man on the boards. He's always a threat to break into a scoring rash that will send the enemy running for cover. Palaia has the perfect bench right now. Maybe it doesn't have the best material, but it is blessed with a team spirit that finds the second stringers rooting for victory instead of a chance to play.

The bench will prove more than adequate if each reserve can enter a game and do the same job that Walt "Moose" Bjorn did against Panzer. The big guy, who played much in the same manner as he used to for Damascus High, grabbed nine rebounds and scored four of the most important points in the ball game, although he played only the final 12 minutes. Nick Gatto is another first rate sub and all the other reserves are doing everything they can to help the cause. In conclusion I would like to point out that ESSTC's six-and-five record can take on an even better aspect if the Normal Hillers continue their fine brand of team play. They have six tough foes still on the agenda.

East Stroudsburg High To Entertain Nazareth foe

Cavaliers Hope To Even Record

EAST STROUDSBURG, anxious to improve upon its first half record of two wins and six defeats, will go in search of its third second half victory tonight against a troublesome Nazareth quintet. The game will be played on the N. Courtland St. court.

Junior varsity activity is slated to get underway at 6:30 p. m., while the varsity rivals clash, at approximately 8 p. m.

The Cavaliers have won two and lost three games against second half opposition to date. They have opened Wilson Borough and Pen Argyl, while falling before Parkland, Coplay and Fountain Hill.

Nazareth's second half mark features two wins and four defeats, but the Blue Bombers already hold a 59-56 verdict over the Cavaliers this season, on the Nazareth boards. The Eagles used a last quarter rally to swing the tide of battle in the first half clash.

East Stroudsburg is fresh from a 71-51 verdict over Pen Argyl, while Nazareth dropped a heart breaker to Coplay in overtime on Tuesday, 46-43. The Cavaliers bowed to Coplay in a second half outing, 60-52, with the winner coming on strong in the final seconds to clutch the victory.

Coech Dick Forsler's Cavaliers are expected to answer the starting whistle with Howard Smith and Barry Lambert at the forward posts and Danny Marvin at center. Bob "Red" Kupiszewski will be at one guard position, while the other will be manned by either Bill Summers or Dick Gray.

Jim Kimler is also expected to see plenty of action for the home squad in tonight's battle.

The Cavaliers will be shooting for their ninth favorable decision of the season against all opposition, as compared to a dozen setbacks.

East Stroudsburg tangles with Hellertown next Tuesday, at Hellertown, and then winds up the Lehigh-Northampton League season at home next Friday against Bangor.

The Cavaliers completed their campaign against Stroudsburg, at Stroudsburg High, Tuesday, Mar. 1.

Other Lehigh-Northampton League contests tonight will send Bangor against Hellertown, Fountain Hill to Wilson Borough and Parkland against Pen Argyl.

Rookies Det Club Rosters

CHICAGO, Feb. 17 (AP)—The largest rookie invasion of American League training camps in 16 seasons is due March 1.

The Red Book, the fact-jammed guide for baseball writers and broadcasters covering the junior circuit, rolled off the presses today with 129 first-year men on the league roster.

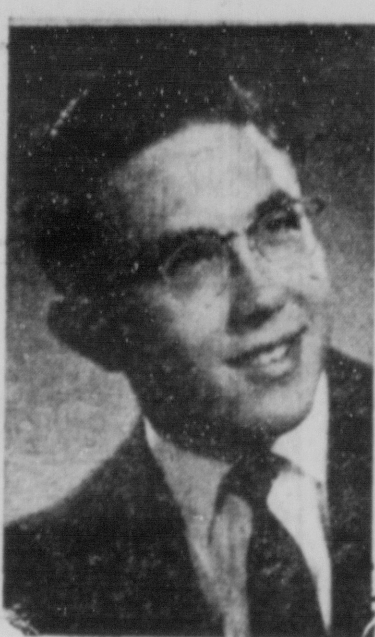

This is the largest rookie total since 137 fledglings went to camp in 1939.

In all, 327 players are listed in the 1955 Red Book, the 14th edited by Earl J. Hlgan, league services bureau director.

'Stilt' Scores Ninety Points

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17 (AP)—Wilt the Stilt Chamberlain, Overbrook High School's seven foot basketball star, established a new state scholastic individual scoring record here today scoring 90 points as his team whipped Roxborough in a Public League game 123-21.

Chamberlain, who scored 71 points against this same team in an earlier contest, connected with 24 field goals and 18 fouls. His total eclipsed the 85 points registered Feb. 12 of this year by Ray Pauley of Sinking Springs High in Berks County, Pa.

Paul Lim

Stroudsburg Names Lim Baseball Capi.

PAUL "DOC" LIM, senior student at Stroudsburg High School, was named to captain the W. Main St. baseball team this season. It was revealed yesterday by diamond coach Jerry Stulgaitis.

Lim, veteran infielder, was elected by a near unanimous margin at a meeting of baseball lettermen on Wednesday.

The newly elected field general will be taking part in his fourth diamond campaign for the Mountaineers—all at second base.

Lim, an Academic student, usually bats in the lead-off position. The Stroudsburg senior has played quarterback for the grid machine and also played a limited amount of basketball for the Mountaineers.

Stroudsburg will take part in nine baseball games this season, seven of which will be played at Gordon Giffels Field. The season will open with Palmerton on Friday, April 22, at Giffels Field. The balance of the schedule will be announced in the near future.

Judge Halts Two Gridders

MARLBORO, Md., Feb. 17 (AP)—Judge Charles C. Marbury today issued a temporary order restraining Dick (Little Mo) Modzelewski and Bob Morgan from playing for any professional football club other than the Washington Redskins.

The judge also fixed Feb. 25 for hearing on a $50,000 damage suit brought against Jack Hennemer, coach of the Calgary Canadian football club, by the Redskins who accuse him of inducing the two football players to jump their contract with the Redskins.

Modzelewski and Morgan formerly played with the University of Maryland, where they were star tackles. Hennemer was line coach at Maryland at the time.

Attorneys for the Redskins contended that Hennemer had induced the players to scrap their contracts with Washington in order to play for him at Calgary. Modzelewski said they were offered "much more" money than they had been receiving here.

Judge Marbury's order placed temporary restraints on the two players leaving to play for Hennemer or any club other than the Redskins.

In addition, the order enjoins Hennemer from attempting to induce any other Redskin players to jump to Canada. There were reports that Hennemer was after two other former Maryland players, quarterback Jack Scarbath and fullback Ralph Felton.

No salary figures were made public.

Modzelewski had not yet signed his 1955 contract with the Redskins, but the club had an option on his services. Morgan already was signed up for next season. Both played with the Redskins last year.

Bangor Cagers To Battle Hellertown

BANGOR—Bangor High will be seeking its second basketball victory in the second half of the Lehigh-Northampton League tonight when the Slaters play host to Hellertown, here on the Bangor High court.

Tonight's encounter is the final home game of the current campaign for Bangor, a team that has lost four second half outings to date.

The junior varsity game is listed for 6:30 p. m. and the main event for approximately 8 p. m.

Bangor has defeated Pen Argyl in second half action, but has fallen before Nazareth, Parkland, Wilson Borough and Fountain Hill.

Coach John Heard is expected to stick with the same lineup that has carried the bulk of the load this season. This means that Wayne Pysher and Duane Miller will handle the guard duties and Don Keat will be at center. The starting forwards are expected to be Art "Bucky" Parsons and Jim Freeman.

Bangor has won three and lost 14 times against all opposition thus far this season.

The Slaters play Coplay and East Stroudsburg away in league games and finish against Phillipsburg.

Chestnuthill, Coolbaugh Face Important Tilts In Dash Toward Monroe County Court Crown

CHESTNUTHILL and Coolbaugh, currently tied for first place in the Monroe County Basketball League, must play with care tonight or one or both will find the going even tougher than it is at the moment.

Coolbaugh and Chestnuthill are currently deadlocked for the top spot with records of 10 wins and three setbacks.

Chestnuthill appears to have the toughest obstacle to overcome, as the charges of Coach

Bill Frear stack up against third place Barrett, on the latter's home court in Canadensis. Chestnuthill was all alone in first place before bowing to Coolbaugh last Tuesday.

Coolbaugh tangles with arch rival Tobyhanna Township tonight on the former's home boards in Tobyhanna. TTHS has won only three of 13 games, but is probably the most improved club in the circuit at the present time.

Pocono, fresh from its first victory over Barrett in seven seasons, will tangle with fifth place Polk, at Kresgeville.

In each case the junior varsity encounter will begin at 7:15 p. m. and the main event at approximately 8:30 p. m.

Today would normally have been the closing date for the Monroe County League, but the circuit only recently rescheduled four postponed contests for next week.

Ladies Slated To Bowl Today

MEMBERS OF the Twin-Boro Ladies' League will see action at the Pocono Bowling Center today at 7 p. m. Schedule follows:

Alleys one and two — Jere's vs Thomas Funeral Home.
Alleys three and four — Marsh's Foundry vs Sommers Brothers.
Alleys five and six — Johnnie's Inn vs Bartonville Hotel.
Alleys seven and eight — Lawson Automotive vs Ray Price Motors.

Fine's Office Payroll Less Than Leader's

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (P)—Gov. George M. Leader reported today that despite the addition of high-priced government research experts his office payroll is only slightly higher than that of Gov. John S. Fine.

As the new chief executive rounded out his first month at the governor's desk, his office reported a total annual payroll of $362,085 compared to Fine's $336,763.

Leader's office lists 65 employees including the governor himself. Fine was listed as having a staff of 66.

Since Leader admittedly has more higher-priced personnel in top positions, it was indicated that some lower echelon positions had been filled at lower pay scales.

At least one high-ranking position under Fine has been eliminated. That is the post of administrative assistant, held by former Sen. Fred P. Hare Jr. of Somerset.

Leader said at his news conference that he does "have a few more" higher paid positions than Fine had.

"However, we are taking on a number of projects which will require their services," he said. "I believe it is better to spend a dollar and save in the long run hundreds or thousands."

His reference was to government reorganization proposals which are to be worked out by a staff headed by James C. Charlesworth, secretary of administration. Charlesworth is paid $15,000 a year.

The governor is seeking legislative approval to reshuffle all branches of the executive arm at or below the agency level.

Among Leader's top echelon men, and their salaries are: David V. Randall, secretary to the governor, $15,000 compared to the $13,500 received by Duncan McCallum under Fine.

Thomas K. Hodges, public relations secretary, $12,500, compared to the $12,000 paid Warren W. Wheaton by Fine.

Henry B. Leader, legislative secretary and brother to the governor, $10,260.

Michael H. Albers, division of accounts and controls, $12,108.

Gayle K. Lawrence, director of personnel, $10,260.

Robert H. Jones, personnel secretary, $10,260.

William C. Seyler, director of program and policy research, $10,260.

Leader Backs Registration Of Lobbyists

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (P)—Gov. George M. Leader today announced support for a bill sponsored by Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegheny) to require registration of lobbyists at the State Capitol.

"I am in favor of a registration bill," Leader told a newsman. "Since the Holland bill seems to be adequate, I am in favor of it."

Holland has sponsored legislation to require lobbyists to register and report their sources of income as well as expenditures through a number of General Assembly sessions. This time he was joined by Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington) co-sponsor.

Purpose of the bill, Holland said, is not to bar lobbyists from legislative halls but to make lobbying for bills a "recognized and well-conducted vocation."

"Lobbying in many cases is a necessity," said Holland, "but we want to put it on a plane where it will be respected."

Lobbyists daily fill many of the spectators' chairs outside rails enclosing both Senate and House seats. Statewide organizations of all types—business, labor, churches, veterans—are represented.

Even the governor himself has a lobbyist of sorts. His brother, Henry Leader, a York attorney, serves as the governor's liaison with the Legislature—that is, keeping tabs on the progress of administration legislation and how individual lawmakers react to it.

Public Instruction Setup Criticized

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (P)—Rep. Stephen D. McCann (D-Greene), chairman of the House Education committee, today described the state Public Instruction Department as an administrative maze.

"The rule seems to be that if a board doesn't fit anywhere, Public Instruction is a good place to put it," he said.

He added that his main criticism of the department is it has too many agencies without a specific link to education.

If licensing agencies in the department prove to be best administered by Public Instruction, McCann said he would favor consolidating all of them into one overall licensing group.

Shapiro Reverses Stand, Lauds Laurelton Hospital

HARRISBURG, Feb. 17 (P)—Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro reversed his stand today and, in a surprise move, praised the management of the Laurelton State Village.

An inspection of the Union County institution by his mental health commissioner and other state officials brought this Shapiro comment:

"As of today, we can report a splendid attitude of cooperation and a sincere desire by everyone to improve and strengthen the operation and management of the institution to the best interests of the patients' welfare."

Just yesterday the welfare secretary cited the board of the hospital for "failure to take measures to put an end to inhuman practices."

Earlier, Gov. George M. Leader said he will "back him (Shapiro) to the limit" in his drive to clean up what he termed "miserable conditions" in state hospitals.

Dr. Hilding A. Bengt, mental health commissioner, headed a group that inspected Laurelton yesterday. Shapiro ordered some 40 patients be removed from a solitary confinement "security cottage."

The governor said consideration is being given to hiring an outside group of professionals to "evaluate the situation in all state mental hospitals."

Referring to Shapiro's statement last week that he will ask for 20 to 40 million additional dollars to conduct his department in the next two years, Leader commented: "I can't say anything now until I get some specific figures—not

Future Teachers Discuss Ethics

ETHICS IN THE teaching profession was the main topic at this month's meeting of Thaddeus Stevens Chapter, Future Teachers of America on State Teachers College campus.

Dr. C. J. Eickler was the speaker. He is chairman of the code of ethics commission of the Pennsylvania State Education Association.

Prior to Dr. Eickler's talk a choral reading of the National Education Association code of ethics was given by students in the elementary curriculum. Mrs. Pauline H. Peterson supervised the reading. Kathryn Mertz sang a solo.
